

Child Support Enforcement

Request for Support Order Review

Print Your Full Name: _____

You may ask us to review your support order to see if the ongoing amount or health insurance terms should be changed. If the review shows the order should be changed, we will take legal action to change the order based on the results of the review.

You can ask for a review

- If it has been three years or longer since the order started or changed, or
- If there has been a permanent, major change in your income or the needs of the child(ren)

Here's what we will do if you or the other parent asks us to review the support order

- Ask both parents to give us current income information.
- Use current information to see what would be ordered under the state's child support guidelines based on the current situation of both parents.
- Decide if either parent should be ordered to get health insurance for the child(ren).
- Finish the review and take action to change the order, if needed, as long as the case is open.
- If Florida does not have jurisdiction to change the order, we will send the request to the state that has jurisdiction.

If we review the order and take legal action to change it

- The amount due under the order and/or the health insurance terms of the order could be changed. If the order is changed, we will enforce the terms of the new order.
- We will take action to change the order if the review shows the order amount should go up or down, either way. But we will not try to change the order unless your situation or the other parent's situation has changed, or if there would be a very small change in the order. You will get notice of any legal action we take.
- Any future change in the amount due does not affect unpaid support that is now owed. Any unpaid support now owed will still be owed.
